About This Game

Treasure Bolt is a puzzle time trial game designed to test your mental and physical capabilities in Virtual Reality. Featuring full locomotion driven movement and puzzle strategy. This means you can run, crawl, reach, hit and grab in Virtual Reality without teleportation. The game is multi-themed, giving two different game experiences in one. Test yourself with either a hack and slash sci-fi shooter, or a heist bat-wielding stealth runner.

The game was originally designed as a tool to showcase the HTC VIVE Trackers, winning 2nd place in the 2017 Global VR Hackathon in Shanghai. This game is perfect for demonstrations to show the capabilities of the HTC Vive trackers, with the capability to use two Vive Trackers plus controllers.

This game is perfect for anybody who wants to experience the capabilities of the HTC Vive trackers, full body locomotion movement, or an intense puzzle time-trial. Built to support demonstrations and events.

Gameplay features include:

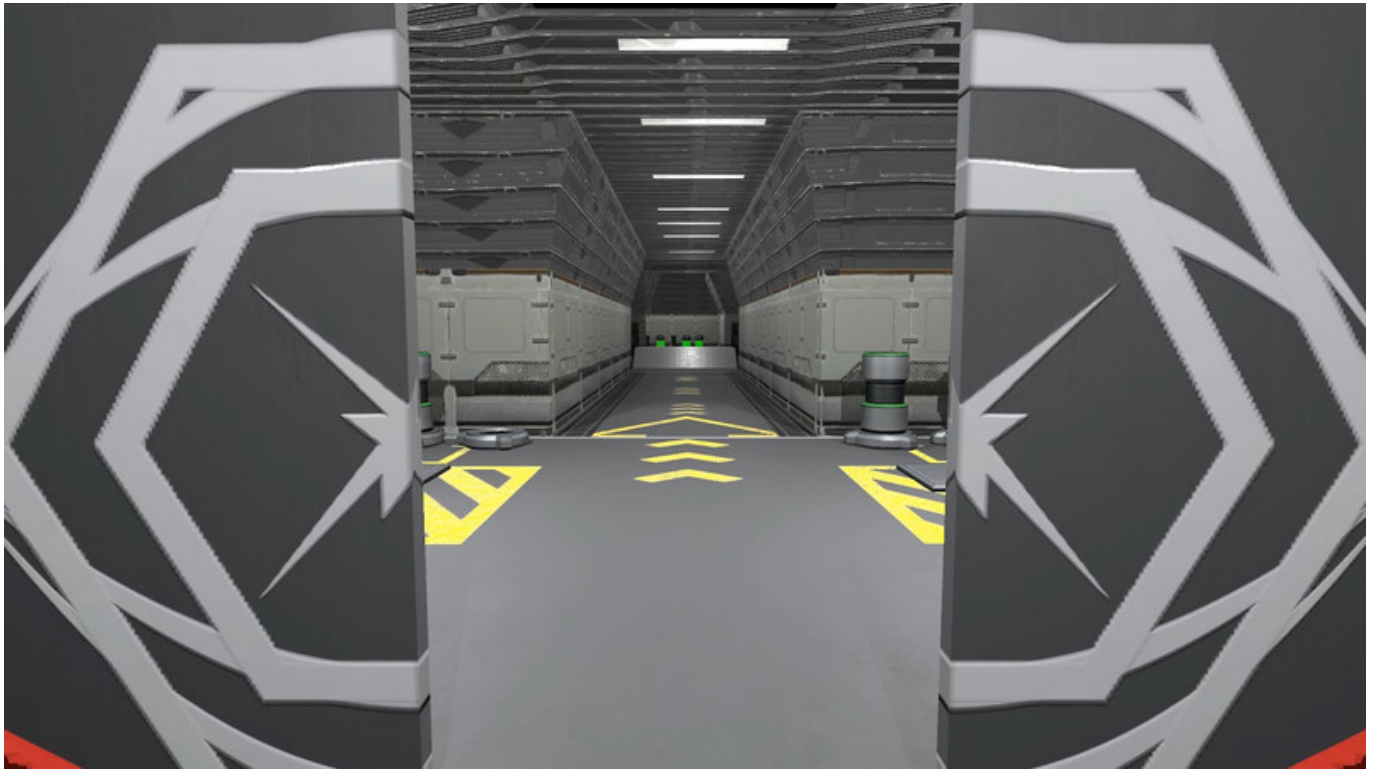

- Two separately themed time-trial levels
- Local scoring system to compete against yourself and your friends.
- Puzzles and interactions built for tracked motion controllers
- Full Vive Tracker supported Locomotion movement in running and crawling .

- Logic and mathematics puzzles
 - Room scale support
 - Quick and easy demo-like/friendly menu systems
 - Physical weapon support (baseball bat and tracker)

At this stage the game really isnt worth even $6.99. It should never have been released as a paid game the way it is. Its only 2 levels, probably 2 minutes at the most for one, maybe 5 minutes for the jewellery level, but once you have completed them a few times, its more like 1-2 minutes each maximum....also very repetative and gets boring after a handful of rounds.

Now i must say this game has great potential, but if you dont add more things into it soon you will be lost in the rest of the sea of crap that is VR on steam. Unfortunalty its games like this with Jazzy trailers, with a all but non existent gameVdemo behind it, that is making people very dissapointed in VR.

My suggestion is wait for a while and see what else they add before you drop any money on it...it may only be $6.99 but you can do better for that amount if you look around.
